USASA Partners with Global Rescue

The United States of America Snowboard and Freeski Association is excited to announce its partnership with Global Rescue, the leading provider of medical field rescue, advisory, and evacuation services.

"As part of our longstanding commitment to ensuring our members have every available opportunity to keep them secure we have identified Global Rescue as the best company to provide USASA athletes with the protection they need in the event of a medical emergency. Getting injured or becoming ill while away from home can be both a serious and costly matter. If you are a USASA member more than 100 miles from home or even on another continent snowboarding or freeskiing and something unforeseen happens Global Rescue can help get you the best care."

Michael Mallon - USASA Executive Director

ABOUT GLOBAL RESCUE

Global Rescue provides worldwide field rescue, advisory, and evacuation services. Members can choose to be protected against both medical and security emergencies.

In addition, Global Rescue's team of paramedics and physicians, supported by Johns Hopkins Medicine, the top-ranked hospital in the U.S., are on hand to provide 24-hour medical advice wherever you are in the world.

In complex cases requiring hospitalization overseas, Global Rescue paramedics are often deployed to provide bedside medical assistance for our members.

From memberships starting at just $119, Global Rescue will arrange and pay for a field rescue from the member's point of illness or injury and evacuate them to their home hospital of choice.

About USASA

The USASA is the leader in the development of snowboard and freeski competitions in the United States. USASA's mission is to facilitate fun and fair events for all ages across the country, to attract snowboarders and freeskiers, promote their development, provide member education, and influence the future of the sports

As a California based not for profit entity, USASA is made up of 32 series across the country that host over 500 events annually. The USASA National Championships is held every year at Copper Mountain Colorado and is the largest snowboard and freeski competition in the world. Historically, the USASA provides a solid path to becoming an elite athlete, in fact every member of the 2014 US Olympic Snowboard team began their development through the USASA network.
